

Site Supervision and Site Management Programmes

The sky's the limit at the Chartered Institute of Building

Do you have the drive to develop your knowledge, skills and improve your career prospects?

CIOB qualifications in Site Supervision and Site Management can help.

The CIOB Site Supervision and Site Management qualifications give you:

- The skills and confidence to manage and co-ordinate all types of construction projects.
- A nationally recognised certificate or diploma qualification.
- The ability to progress to a higher level of study and a professional qualification.
- Increased promotional prospects.
- Progression in S/NVQs and then Construction Skills Certification Scheme (CSCS) registration.

There are no examinations as all assessments are through coursework and practical based assignments designed to complement existing Site Supervisors and Managers job roles. The courses are run at approved centres across the UK, Ireland and overseas and are delivered through colleges, universities and companies. This usually requires attendance of only one afternoon/evening a week. The Certificate in Site Supervisory Studies is also available through distance learning.

Your route to a successful career

“Some thirty years after the introduction of the Site Management Education and Training Scheme, I frequently meet through my industry contacts, people who have used the scheme as a bridge or foundation for their careers. These include Company Directors, Senior Contracts Managers, Site Managers and others who have progressed into other linked employment. This was the first industry qualification for some people and many more have extended their experience and knowledge to progress their CIOB membership.”

John Trill, FCIOB

Construction Consultant
